MILITARY FAMILIES LEARNING NETWORK

The Military Families Learning Network is an online teaching community comprised of Cooperative Extension faculty and military family service professionals. Funded by the US Department of Defense, it was launched in 2012 and has been in operation for six full federal fiscal years. The program builds the financial education capacity of financial counselors and educators with a special emphasis on the learning needs of military personal financial management program staff. Timely research-based information is presented through multiple outreach methods including monthly webinars, a blog, podcasts, and social media. By offering educational programming online, the team accommodates the needs of staff located on military installations anywhere in the world. Many are civilians employed by the military to provide financial education and counseling to active duty military, their family members, and military service retirees. The program has reached over 12, 000 webinar attendees since 2012 and has awarded over 18000 free CEUs.
